ABOUT THE PROJECT

As the latest development in the Edwards Communities portfolio of urban infill projects, The Nicholas revitalizes a prominent block in downtown Columbus by converting a surface parking lot into a vibrant mixed-use community. To break up the massing, a variety of architectural styles and changes in height were used to create visual relief. As a sister project to The Citizens, a neighboring infill community made possible by re-purposing the Citizens Savings & Trust building, The Nicholas shares parking with The Citizens, as well as a multitude of amenities within the network of other Edwards Communities located nearby.
